METHODIST MINISTERS

WHO HAVE SERVED CHARGES IN POCAHONTAS COUNTY.

The List of Ministers and Some Anecdotes and Traditions of the Older Ones.

As so many of our people have been and are adherents of the Methodist church, it has been for quite awhile the writers wish to have a list of the ministers. One of the fortunate finds he made during the late excursion beyond Droop Mountain were two old books here. Joins in the possession of D. C. Hill at Jacob.

On the fly leaves of one of these books, the late Abraham Hill had written a list of the circuit riders down to his time and also the names of some Presiding Elders. The list begins with Rev. Robert Boyd 1818; J. Bramwell and J. Miller 1819; Sam'l Montgomery and H. Smith 1820; J. Ross and J. Brander 1821; E. Stephenson and W. Sawyers 1822; James Avis 1823; Obadiah Harber 1824; Amos Smith 3 months in 1825; Samuel Ellis 1826; J. Howells and H. Best 1827; S. McPherson and J. Reed 1828; J. Bramwell and J. Lewis 1829; James F. Tannehill 1830; Joseph Spriggs and J. McNeill 1831; J. Spriggs and J. Stanbury 1832; Stephen D. Hopkins and T. R. Dunn 1833; G. G. Brooke and S. D. Hopkins 1834; J. W. Callum and T. J. Dyerley 1835; J. McNeill 1836; C. Hartman 1837; J. S. McLeahan 1838; J. W. Osborne 1839-40; T. J. Dyerley 1841-42; L. C. Watters 1843; Sam'l Register 1844; Adam Bland and G. O. Littell 1845; N. L. Fish 1846; James N. Clark 1847-48; John W. Start 1849; F. G. Jamison 1850-51; T. F. McClure 1852-53; L. D. Nison 1854-55; J. P. Etchison 1856; C. C. Cronin 1857; James Gardner 1858-59; J. Haslip 1859; James Liggett 1860-63; Allen A. P. Neel 1864; P. S. E. Sixes 1865-66; Geo. P. Wanless 1867-68; W. S. Linton 1869; G. W. Carpenter 1870; J. S. Wickline 1871-73; A. W. Richardson 1879; G. P. Wanless 1875-6; G. W. Graham 1877; C. M. Neff 1878-80; D. C. Hedrick 1881-82; D. S. Perry 1884; R. R. Little 1885 and part of 86; C. B. Myers part of 86, A. M. Chappell 1887-89; L. S. Huffman 1890 part of 91; J. Adamson part of 1891; C. B. Myers 1892-93; Samuel C. Morgan 1894-96; C. M. Fultz 1897-99; J. W. Butler part of 1902-3.

The writer would be pleased to have a list of the M. E. S. ministers who have served in the limits of Pocahontas since the division Baltimore conference, also a list of M. P. ministers. The President of the M. E. S. since 1818, have been Robert Boyd, Lewis R. Fechtig, John Brown, Gerard Morgan, Brison Morgan, James Watts, C. Tippet, Norval Wilson, Brown Morgan, B. N. Brown; E. P. Veitch Maybury, Goheen, E. P. Phelps, James S. Gardner, A. J. Porter, S. Richardson, R. A. Scott, C. M. Neff, R. B. Little, D. O. Hedrick; R. H. Clark.

Among the M. E. S. Presiding Elders, were David Bush, J. S. Hutcheson, J. Ferguson, D. T. Tyler, J. H. Waugh.

Preachers J. W. Canter, Rufus Wheeler, Miller, C. Sydenstricker, J. Hills, W. Lynch at Levelon, S. Snapp, Parker Sarver.

A few fragmentary traditions linger in the minds of our older people and unless soon gathered up will be lost to memory.

The writer met Joseph Spriggs who travelled in Pocahontas 1831-2 and spent the day with him near Lexington, Va. in the fall of 1833. Mr. Spriggs had married a Miss Ruff in that town and was on a visit to her family.

Mr. Spriggs said he regarded the time passed in Pocahontas among the most prosperous of his ministerial life. About six months then almost anything else now.

Parties knowing of similar traditions well authenticated would be glad to perform a very valuable service by sending them to the writer for publication.

night during the encampment.

It was at this meeting the late Rev. James E. Moore professed conversion, if my memory serves me correctly. The late Tommy Morrison gave me a more graphic description of the scene than Mr. Spriggs could have possibly done.

It seems from a tradition that Mrs. Curry near Dunmore received of her mother, who was Jane Ervine, that a minister by the name of Pinnell preached at an earlier date than the Abram Hill register shows and whose name does not appear in his list.

A colored brother in the church waited his preacher to marry him. He did not believe in fast talking up wide wimmin like gamblers do, he wanted de blessing send ober his gittin' married. Mr. Pinnell appreciated the colored man's scruples and consented to perform an informal marriage as a strictly legal or permanent marriage was not provided for at the time for colored people.

In coaching the groom for the ceremony the preacher very positively charged him to repeat just what he said. So after all was ready for the ceremony and the preacher with due solemnity proceeded with the ceremony saying "do you take this woman to be your true and wedded wife?" The colored man responds "do you take this woman to be your true and wedded wife?" Minister Pinnell now exclaims "It is not me but you," the colored party responds with equal fervor, "it is not me but you," and so they had a time of it marrying one another until the ceremony had to be suspended and a fresh start made with a better understanding as to who was to do the marrying and who was to be married.

The first minister of the M. E. church remembered by the late Samuel Sutton of Greenbank vicinity was the Rev. James Watts whose name appears in Abram Mr. Sutton thinks that he preached about every day on his rounds so few were the silent days.

He was antlerly rigid in his conscientious views cried aloud and spared not in showing the people their transgressions and was specially severe against foibles and fashions. On one of his rounds he was entertained at the old John Sutton home, where lived the Ancestor of the Pocahontas Suttons. The vigilant preacher at one noticed that Henrietta a girl about 16 years of age, had fixed up a couple of ringlets of her remarkably beautiful auburn hair, in curling papers, thus forming two little knots one on each temple. No sooner noticed when the earnest soul of the minister was all aflame with intense anxiety for the young sister's spiritual safety. In earnest intonations he exclaimed, why sister Henrietta can it be possible you would do such a thing? Straight, those knots out, for if you don't Satan will be certain to get you." There were no more knots after that in Hetty's beautiful tresses, after a season of earnest wrestling in prayer for the forgiveness of her great sin her mind became happily relieved of fear and dread as to terrible consequences that might have resulted from what she had so sinfully done, by curling her ringlets.

The late Allen Galford used to tell what made him remember the first preacher he ever heard preach near Glade Hill. The preacher wore a calico gown that reached to his heels and as the preacher would wheel around the skirt of the gown would do very funny and the little boy was greatly tickled. Upon coming home his mother gave him a stinger with her switch and threatened still more of the same hot stuff if she ever caught him laughing at preaching again. Such traditions may provoke a smile on the part of some and yet to others they are more suggestive of the sincere and conscientious principles that governed the conduct of the pioneers.

Among the most prosperous of his ministerial life, about six months then almost anything else now.

Parties knowing of similar traditions well authenticated would be glad to perform a very valuable service by sending them to the writer for publication.

Marriages and measles seem to be all the go now.

Some time ago Mr. John W. Williams and Miss Susie Boblet were united in the bonds of matrimony by Rev. C. M. Anderson, groom is a member of the firm of Williams Brothers who owns and operates a saw mill. The bride is the oldest daughter of John Boblet who lives on Viney mountain.

On Wednesday Nov. 4th, a very pretty wedding was witnessed at the home of the brides father, J. M. McClure when Dr. Sydenstricker performed the ceremony that made Lonnie Kershner and Miss Etie McClure husband and wife. The bride is the youngest daughter of J. M. McClure of Lobelia, and the groom is the fourth son of R. P. Kershner of Droop Mountain. Lonnie is a young and rising farmer and woodman, and is an example of what a young man by energy perseverance and economy may accomplish. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful presents.

There are more than twenty cases of measles in this vicinity, and a number of other persons have been exposed to them. Some are pretty bad cases.

Forest fires have been raging in the mountains toward Cherry River for more than a week and it came on so near that some of the people on Hills Creek had to fire against it to save their fences. It is supposed by some that the fire caught from the train.

The widow and family of the late Jas Williams of near Alderson have moved to Lobelia.

There seemed to be but little interest taken in the election Tuesday, only twenty votes polled at Lobelia.

C. J. Hill is moving into his new house.

A Marlinton three year old horse named "Buck" or "Buckie" was killed Thursday. The other was killed near the same place in making a coupling last February the logs slipping from one car and jamming him against those of another.

The family of David Dolan wish to thank most heartily the people of Cass and others, especially the West Virginia Spruce Lumber Company, who rendered assistance and sympathy in this their hour of trial.

A Born Horseman.

Marlinton three year old horse named "Buck" or "Buckie" was killed Thursday. The other was killed near the same place in making a coupling last February the logs slipping from one car and jamming him against those of another.

While his father was shoeing an old family horse the other day he pulled up a chair to stand upon while he critically examined the animal's mouth. He appeared satisfied with his investigation and upon being asked how old she was immediately replied, much to the questioner's surprise "sixteen" the exact age of the horse. The boy had no means of knowing the horse's age, it was a guess and a most excellent one and served the purpose as well as years spent in studying horses' mouths. After all the age of a horse is an uncertain quantity and to guess at it is as good luck as any.

Moundsville is undergoing a reign of terror. A lot of niggers have been imported to work the mines and being treated like white folks have proceeded to take the town in regulation style. Women and children stay in doors except when under the escort of men, and still nothing is done even when a wagon load of coons pass along the streets firing pistols in the air. The Southerners method of dealing with the negro when he gets out of his place may be a little severe, but it is nearly always justifiable.

R. A. Kramer has a small sun perch which to all purposes bears a charmed life. He found it in a cake of ice which has been in a bucket almost a week. In tracing back to find where the fish came from originally, it was found that it had been pumped from C. & O. station on Knapps Creek to the tank, from thence it traveled the small pipe to the Athletic Club Hall and came through the shower bath into a bucket. It was then frozen into a cake of ice for several days.

In Highland County elections, J. A. Jones was elected Treasurer, J. M. Colaw, Prosecuting Attorney, August, Sheriff, Whiteley Commissioner Revenue and S. W. Strickland to the House of Delegates.

BRAKEMAN KILLED

ON MOUNTAIN ROAD ABOVE CASS

David Dolan Meets Death Under Car Wheels.

David Dolan aged 24, married, of Ronceverte, a brakeman on the Greenbrier, Cheat and Elk River Railway was killed at the switch back on the mountain above Cass last Thursday at half past two o'clock. He was putting on the brakes when the chain broke and losing his balance was thrown under the wheels, cutting his head off and mangleing his body terribly. He never regained consciousness although he did not die until the rest of the crew had stopped the train and returned to him some ten minutes later.

The West Virginia Spruce Lumber Company took charge of the remains and sent them to Ronceverte for burial on Friday. An inquest was thought unnecessary. Dolan lived in Ronceverte and bore a good name for industry. He has been working at Cass for the past year. He leaves a wife but no children.

This is the second brakeman to meet death on this road the other being Zack Dolan, a brother of the unfortunate man who was killed Thursday. The other was killed near the same place in making a coupling last February the logs slipping from one car and jamming him against those of another.

The family of David Dolan wish to thank most heartily the people of Cass and others, especially the West Virginia Spruce Lumber Company, who rendered assistance and sympathy in this their hour of trial.

Communication.

EDITOR TIMES:

I hope you will give me space in your paper to reply to a very gross insult to me by Dr. J. H. Weymouth in the Randolph Enterprise which was reprinted in the Times of October 29.

The part of the article to which we take exception referred to a letter by Major Harris in which he spoke in scathing terms of a man who would desecrate so sacred a spot as a soldier's grave, by the erection of cattle scales thereon, and said that when Major Harris wished a guide, he would choose one who would speak for truth and veracity, and whose word would be his bond.

The person who was with Major Harris, on the occasion referred to was myself. When we approached the spot where Mr. Moore's cattle scales stands, Maj. Harris, who had not been there since the war, seemed familiar with the locality and said, "Just in front of us some confederate soldiers were buried; are the graves still there?"

I assured him the graves were still there and when we reached the point we found that Mr. Moore's cattle scales were erected close by the graves and that the cattle in going into the scale pens passed right over the graves and that they stood about on the graves when being herded before getting them into the pens. No one had to inform Major Harris of this, his own eyes were his informant, and any one else can see just what Major Harris saw.

Dr. Weymouth says of these soldiers that "that no monument marks their last resting place," but I think differently, the monument erected by Mr. Moore is the most disgraceful ever erected on so sacred a spot and will commemorate it better than a block of granite or charges that I deliberately made false statements to reply to in the manner that I cannot serve, because he is too far away, but I believe my word in this county has usually been taken as true and will go as far here as his, or even that of the gentleman who has turned a Confederate grave yard to all intense and purposes into a barnyard.

I am sorry that this step must be taken in order to protect myself from this malicious attack made upon me. I had nothing to do with Major Harris' former letter and with all my faults I have tried to testify to the truth in all cases therefore I ask an apology or this may become a personal matter.

The November issue of the West Va. Historical Magazine is now in hand, and is a very attractive number. Messrs. Laidley, Briscoe, and W. T. Price furnish most of the articles, and goes without saying that what ever Briscoe and Laidley write, amply rewards attentive perusal.

This periodical should have the enthusiasm and substantial encouragement of every West Virginia patriot. It is devotedly hoped the newspapers of West Virginia may have many good words for this Magazine, for the sake of the work it represents, keeping fresh the names of our worthy ancestral dead and perpetuating their noble deeds.

Robert Lightner of Highland county, was in Marlinton last week with a load of improved winter apples for sale. While he disposed of his stock the market was not quite as steady as he had expected to find it.

Game Warden Lively and Deputy Yeager were in the Upper end of Pocahontas, in the great forest where head Greenbrier, Cheat, Elk, Tygarts Valley, Gandy and Little Rivers, last week They walked several days, looking up violators of the game law and hunting deer. They were J. M. Colaw, Prosecuting Attorney, August, Sheriff, Whiteley Commissioner Revenue and S. W. Strickland to the House of Delegates.
